

Kelly Swan, CEO, Renew Therapeutic Enhancement Services

Kelly Swan is an expert on addictive disorders, LGBTQ issues, cultural competency, and program development. Ms. Swan is committed to assisting community partners with identifying and implementing solutions to the opioid epidemic along with the pervasiveness of homelessness in Southern Nevada. Kelly Swan is an active member of the Las Vegas Mayor's Faith Initiative working groups on homelessness and addiction. She welcomes opportunities to work alongside the diverse communities of Southern Nevada.

Education and Certifications:

- + B.A. in Multiculturalism
- + Certified Chemical Dependency Counselor
 - + Gender and LGBTQ studies
 - + Safe Talk Suicide Prevention
- + CSH Supportive Housing Institute graduate
 - + Mindfulness and Meditation
 - + CPI
- + Experiential Therapies
- + Cultural Competency

Management, Clinical and Administration

- Director of a 50-bed facility encompassing a HUD Safe Haven program and Social Detox
 - Community College Part-time Faculty in Drug and Alcohol Studies program
 - Recovery Home Manager and Intensive Outpatient Coordinator
 - Substance Abuse Prevention and Intervention Specialist in high-risk middle schools
- Community Outreach Coordinator for hospital-based Substance Use Disorder programs
 - Clinical Director for a 64-bed Inpatient Chemical Dependency program
 - Admissions Manager for private SUD Pain Recovery Program
 - Intake Coordinator for a Community Hospital recovery program
 - Twenty-seven years of experience as a clinician
 - Home Care Branch Manager

In 2016, Ms. Swan opened Nevada's first Wet Shelter. Located in the homeless corridor of Las Vegas, the shelter served chronic public inebriates, adults fleeing domestic violence and chronically mentally ill homeless persons. Clients were invited to enter round the clock. Ms. Swan developed and implemented the program from an idea to successfully providing safety, dignity and wrap-around services to 350 clients per month.